This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

PREFACE.

TO PERPETUATE the memory of men and women, who for more than two hundred and fifty years, have left an honorable record in America, this work was undertaken six years since. It is sent forth with the hope that it may tend to inspire the living descendants with the spirit of emulation, for (quoting Mr. Wharton Dickinson at Amherst, 1883): "It cannot be denied that having sprung from a virtuous and respectable family inspires a man with confidence, when he is conscious that he does not disgrace his descent. When families, living in a Republic like ours, can maintain unbroken for over two centuries their prestige as soldiers, statesmen, jurists, scholars and divines, and fill the highest offices in State and Nation with credit and ability, they certainly deserve the reverence and esteem of their fellow citizens, and it is but just to them that a record of their lives and works should be preserved to posterity."

THE SCANDINAVIAN Earls trace their descent from the noblest and most heroic of the ruling dynasties of the North. Ivar, Prince of the Uplands in Norway, was the father of Eystein who had issue—Rogenwald and Mulahule. Rogenwald was a supporter of King Harold Harfagr and assisted him in obtaining the mastery over all the other independent Norwegian chiefs. One of his sons, Rollo, founded the line of Sovereign Dukes of Normandy and was ancestor to William the Conquerer. (Burke's Extinct Peerages, page 492).

Nearly eleven centuries ago there appeared at the Court of Halfdan Huilbein, King of Norway, a soldier of fortune, named Ivar. He was said to have been originally a shepherd. One day he was captured by a roving band of Northmen and carried off to sea. After a series of adventures he made his appearance at the Norse King's Court, about the year 700. Being of handsome presence, he became a great favorite with the king who made him General of his army, Prince of the Uplands, and in 725 bestowed upon him in marriage his daughter, Eurittea, the heiress of the realm. Halfdan died in 725, leaving his crown to his grandson, Eystein. Ivar was regent during his son's minority. Eystein reigned until 755 and left Harold Harfagr successor; and another son, Rogenwald. Among other issues Rogenwald left Rolf or Rollo, the most adventurous prince of his age, who overran Normandy in 910. His sixth and youngest son, Walter, received the town and castle of Caen as his inheritance. His great-grandson, Walter de Caen, accompanied William the Conquerer to England.

From Walter de Caen, later Walter de Kenson
(taking the name of his manor in Yorkshire),

The facts, relative to Ivar and Rollo, are from Prof. Dunham's "History of Scandinavia" and from "Burke's Extinct Peerages," and are a continuation of the Amherst address of Mr. Wharton Dickinson, the distinguished Dickinson Genealogist of New York City, by whose kindness and courtesy the English descent of the family is here outlined.

"In A. D. 1628-9 the aspect of public affairs in England became more threatening than ever. Charles I. dismissed his Parliament and tried governing without one, introducing a system of tyranny, which eventually brought him to the block. His inquisitorial policy was to extinguish Puritan opinions and to punish with imprisonment and death all deviations from established ceremonies."

"Reared in the traditions of a race which, for six centuries had braved tyranny from the Norman Rufus to the unfortunate Charles Stuart, is it any wonder that the same spirit led the stern Puritan, Nathaniel Dickinson, at this time, to seek the wilds of America."

In 1630 the London Company of Massachusetts Bay transferred itself and the whole government of its colonists, to its American settlement, and in June, of this year, John Winthrop, chosen Governor by the Massachusetts Company, with his fleet, the Arbella, Talbot, Ambrose and Jewell, bearing three or four hundred colonists—two of whom were Nathaniel Dickinson and his wife—arrived at Salem, Massachusetts. Some "resolved to set down at the head of Charles River," others, "relinquishing Salem, shipped their goods to Charleston, Watertown and Roxbury." Nathaniel Dickinson is said to have settled at Watertown, where John, Joseph and Thomas were born, and where he remained until 1635-36, when he removed to Wethersfield, Connecticut, and our American Record begins.

In the keeping of Mr. Charles Henry Dickinson, a grandson of Nathaniel Oliver and Apama Humphrey Dickinson (family number twenty-nine), at Coldwater, Michigan, is a bible, nearly one hundred and fifty years old, which was once the property of Thomas and Mary Stevens Dickinson of Goshen, Connecticut.

In this sacred and venerable book it is recorded: "Ann Dickinson, born May ye 15th, 1715, died November 29th, 1796.

Thomas Dickinson, son of Thomas and Ann.

Mary Stevens, daughter to Andrew and Esther Stevens, born at Plainfield."

Four years of faithful inquiry failed to locate "Thomas and Ann" or "Plainfield" which latter might be in Vermont, New Hampshire, Massachusetts, Connecticut or New Jersey. The oldest living members of the family could throw no light upon the subject. Far greater and now successful results, however, have been achieved than were anticipated at the out-set. The first clew was obtained from Trumbull's Colonial History of Connecticut, and a second from Annals of Winchester. The first says Norfolk was incorporated in 1758. "The first inhabitants (twenty-seven families) were from HARTFORD, Danbury," etc., and the second: "By a law of the General Assembly of Connecticut it was enacted that the owners of each township should have a corporate existence under the title of proprietors, vested with authority to survey and allot to each individual, pro rata, his share, according to the lists of 1720." Lots were drawn for choice. The first meeting of the proprietors of the Town of Winchester (Winchester, Norfolk, Goshen and Caanan, adjoining towns in the northwestern part of Litchfield County, Connecticut) was held May 14th, 1744, and in 1758, under this law, among other HARTFORD names, appears: "The heirs of Thomas Dickinson," who were alloted a value of £51.0.0, all pointing to HARTFORD, where search was commenced. From this beginning, during the years 1890-96 the facts and material included herein have been collected and compiled. No claim of originality is made. Only a part of what has been found appears, the whole being too voluminous for the limits of this Record.

UNDER one of those theological upheavals, common to the times, and no doubt with promise of bettering their condition, Nathaniel Dickinson and his sons decided on the removal to Hadley in 1659. Wethersfield was nearly depopulated by the exodus to Hadley. The agreement, or engagement, of those who intended to remove from Connecticut to Massachusetts, is dated at Hartford, April 18th, 1659. Among the fifty-nine signers are Nathaniel Dickinson and his sons John Dickinson and Thomas Dickinson. A part of the agreement made at this meeting was that William Westwood, Richard Goodman, William Lewis, John White, and Nathaniel Dickinson, should go up to the aforesaid plantation on the east side of Northampton and lay out the number of fifty-nine homelots, and to allow eight acres for every homelot, and to leave a street twenty rods broad betwixt the two westernmost rows of homelots, and to divide said rows of homelots into quarters by highways.

In October, 1660, a town meeting was held at the house of Andrew Warner, when it was voted that no person should be owned for an inhabitant in the Plantation, or have liberty to vote or act in town affairs until he should be legally received as an inhabitant. This was signed by twenty-eight persons, among them Nathaniel Dickinson and Thomas Dickinson.

TO ANY one who has made study of American genealogy, the name of Nathaniel Dickinson is a household word. Settling with his gentle wife, Anna Gull, in Wethersfield, in A. D. 1636, he took front rank. He was one of the first Board of Selectmen, Representative to the General Assembly, from 1645 to 1656, Recorder for twenty years at Wethersfield, Deacon in the church throughout his life. In 1659, he removed with his family to Hadley, Massachusetts, where he was no less a leader. As shown above he was one of the original Committee sent to lay out the town; first Recorder there, Assessor, Town Magistrate, member of the Hampshire Troop, one of the members of the first Board of Trustees of the Hopkins' Academy. "An intelligent an influential man, and one qualified to do public business, as well as a man of substance, rating with the highest in the division of lands." He owned east of the "Great River," at Hartford, one hundred acres in the tract called "Naubuc Farms." This was sold on or before the removal to Hadley. With him from Wethersfield to Hadley, removed his Minister, Mr. Russell, who gave permanent concealment to Generals Whalley and Goffe, two members of the High Court of Justice that condemned Charles I. With the restoration of the Stuarts, a reward was offered for the heads of these Generals, but they could not be found. One

Sunday, in September, 1675, the little town of Hadley was panic-stricken by an attack of Indians. The surprise was so great, and the numbers so unequal, that the Indians were fast gaining the advantage. Suddenly there appeared among the settlers a man of towering height, and long streaming hair and beard, dressed in fantastic fashion. Wherever he went the Indians fell, and the courage of the English rose. They thought God had sent an angel to lead them out of their sore strait. When the fight was over, the stranger disappeared as suddenly as he came. Many believed to their dying day that he was not mortal. He was General Goffe, the Regicide. Without doubt, our ancestor, being an intimate friend of Mr. Russell, was entrusted with the secret of the concealment of the Regicides, and witnessed this exploit of General Goffe.

NATHANIEL DICKINSON, had a family of nine stalwart sons and two daughters, who grew up, married, and had large families, (except possibly the daughter Frances, of whom no later record is found); so that at this day his descendants are unnumbered. All of the sons took an active part in King Philip's War, and John, Joseph and Azariah, the two oldest, and the youngest, were killed. The father, borne down with affliction and weight of years, died at Hadley, June 16, 1676, leaving as legacy the record of a life which has largely helped to make history.

Trumbull's Memorial History of Hartford County, Vol. II., page 465, says: "The people of Wethersfield should remember with pride the part in the war of 1675-77 taken by this family."

A TRADITION makes us of Scotch origin, descended from one Thomas Dickinson, from Ayrshire, Scotland, 1690. The line of descent here presented proves this to be an error, and establishes the fact of our direct descent from Nathaniel Dickinson, the grand old settler of Wethersfield, Connecticut, and Hadley, Massachusetts.

THE WILL OF OBADIAH DICKINSON.

(Family Number Seven.)

IN THE NAME OF GOD. AMEN.

I, OBADIAH DICKINSON, of Wethersfield, in the County of Hartford, in Connecticut, being weakly in body, but of good and perfect memory, and forasmuch as I know not how soon it may please God to take me out of this world, I account it my duty to resign up myself, soul and body, to the good will and pleasure of the Lord, in life and death; hoping after this temporal life is ended to receive everlasting happiness through the only merits of my alone Lord and Savior, Jesus Christ.

And concerning the estate it hath pleased God in His goodness to bestow upon me, by this last Will and Testament, I give and bequeath as followeth; my just debts being paid, with decent funeral charges being paid, etc.

IMPRIMIS. I give and bequeath unto my three sons, viz.: Daniel, Eliphalet and Noodiah Dickinson, all my lands and housing in equal proportions, to be appraised by men chosen by my sons, if they shall agree in the choice of men to appraise and distribute the same to my said sons; and, in case they shall not agree, mutually to choose men, then I leave it to the County Court to appoint men to appraise and distribute my lands and housing to my said sons, as may be most convenient for my sons; and this I leave in this way and manner, not knowing how to pass a just valuation upon my lands, so as to proportionate these said lands equally, in this, my weakness. It is in my mind that my son Eliphalet should have my five acres of land lying by John Belding's, he allowing in his part, as by a just estimation or appraisement shall be thought fit, not recovering my said son's labor since he was married, nor his house timber. The lands as aforesd to be to my sons, their heirs and assigns forever.

ITEM. I give unto my daughters, Sarah Smith and Mehitable Dickinson, the sum of forty pounds, each of them, recovering what my daughter Sarah hath had already to be part of her forty pounds, passing as equal a valuation upon the same, as may be conveniently come at, not accounting the wearing apparel or child's clothes that were her mother's, my former wife; both which legacies I appoint to be paid out of my movable estate, if my movable estate shall amount to what I give of legacies; and if these shall want, to be paid out of my three sons' estate by equal proportion.

ITEM. I give unto my beloved wife, Mehitable Dickinson, the use of my housing and homelot, with a third part of all my improvable lands, and the use of my movable estate, for comfort and bringing up my two children I had by her, viz.: so long as she shall keep my name and be my relict and widow. And if the Providence of God shall so order that my wife shall marry, then the aforesd to cease, and it is my will that she shall have the sum of forty pounds paid her out of my movable estate to be her own forever, she taking the charge and care of my two small children, which I had by her, until my son Noodiah shall be twelve years of age, and my daughter ten years of age; but, and if either of my young children shall die before they be come to the age prefixt, then my will is, my wife shall have but thirty pounds to be her own disposal forever.

Further, I give to my wife the improvement of my son Noodiah, his estate, until he shall be come to the age of twenty and one years, and my daughter Mehitable's estate until she shall be come to the age of eighteen years, or shall be married; and, if any of my children die before they come to ye age aforesaid, their estate to be divided in equal proportion to my surviving children, giving liberty to my sons to redeem their sisters' share of land from any so dying, if they shall see cause to do so, giving a valuable consideration for the same.

AND FORASMUCH, as I know not whether my eldest son, Obadiah, be living or not, it is my will that if he be living and shall claim a share in my estate, that my said son shall have an equal portion with my sons above mentioned, to be voted and taken out of all my children's estate as their said children's estate shall arise in valuation.

I give unto my servant, Sarah Couch, a young cow to be paid her within one year after this date.

I do make and constitute my son Eliphalet to be my executor, and with the help and advice of my wife, to perform this my last Will and Testament, all but what is already provided for by Appraisers and Distributors, as afore-named or mentioned.

And that this is my mind and will, I do set my hand and seal, this seventh day of June, One thousand, Six Hundred and Ninety Eight.

OBADIAH DICKINSON. [Seal.]

In presence of
JOHN CHESTER,
SAMUEL NORTHAM.

EXCEPT as shown by the somewhat meager records very little has come down to us relating to any of the Thomases.

The first Thomas was born 1634, at Watertown, Mass., married Hannah Crow, at Hadley, and died 1713, at Wethersfield, Conn.

The second Thomas was born February 15, 1672, at Hadley, married Mehitable Meekins, at Hartford, and died 1723, at Hartford.

The third Thomas was born 1708, at Hartford, married Ann ———, at Hartford, and died 1747, at Hartford.

The fourth Thomas was born March 17, 1737, at Hartford, married Mary Stevens, and died October 5, 1811, at Goshen, Conn.

Thomas, of Goshen, had to do with the trying events of the Revolution. At page 562, Record of Service of Connecticut Men in the Revolution, published by the Adjutant General's Office, at Hartford, 1889, his name appears in Colonel Sheldon's 17th Regiment in the list of "A return of the names and places of abode of men detached in the 6th Brigade of Militia, in the State of Connecticut, to serve in two Battalions for the defense of the Sea Coast and Frontiers of the same until the first day of March, 1780." He had a harness shop in Norfolk, and in this shop Ethan Allen made his headquarters before he joined the army, and was "wont to walk up and down excitedly raving at and cursing the British." It is not improbable that in this same shop, the plan conceived by John Stevens (a brother-in-law), Allen and other daring men, for the capture of Ticonderoga, was discussed and arranged.

Mary Stevens Dickinson (Family Number Twenty) was instantly killed by lightning on September 3, 1801. The following letter—original now in the hands of Mrs. Sherman (Family Number Eighty-five)—possesses peculiar interest. It was presumably addressed to Poultney, Vermont—the superscription is lost—but his only daughter Lois resided at Poultney.

GOSHEN, CONN., Sept. 5th, 1801.

"DEAR FRIEND:

"I am left alone. On the evening of the third inst., it pleased the Divine Dispenser of Events (by an arrow from His quiver) to deprive me of my dearest friend and partner. The same shaft left my son Nathaniel and his son, about ten months old, (Charles H., Family No. Fifty-three) to all appearances dead, and Nathaniel's wife disabled so that she could not help herself. After some considerable time, Nath'l and his babe, after moving and carrying about, came to life. Nath'l walks about, but remains unable to do business at present, but we hope will soon recover. His wife is badly burned and has been moved but one time, from one bed to another, since the event, but we hope will recover.

"The lightning struck the north end of the roof. Nath'l and his babe lay on the bed close to ye place struck, his wife was sitting in a chair by the side of the bed, and mine sat on the fore side of the bed. The lightning struck her temple and burnt her hair considerably. She had not the least signs of life left. I was in the room, the first person, in less than a minute, and saw four persons that were dear to me, one dead on the floor, the other lying near her, unable to move and her clothes on fire, the other two, to all appearances dead on the bed. The scene I can't describe, nor can I be so particular as I wish. My trouble is great, and my hand trembles so that I fear you wont read this—you see in my affliction—mercy they were not all killed. Pray excuse me for the trouble I give you in desiring you to communicate this to my children with you. My not writing to them was not disrespect, but afraid of the shock it might occasion, especially to my daughter, to whom and them you will communicate this, and shew them the letter in a suitable time.

"Be assured, sir, I am yours and their affectionate friend.

"TH. DICKINSON."

To E. C. Camfield, Esquire.

WE look with reverence and admiration to the maternal side of our ancestry.

Anna Gull Dickinson speaks to us through her nine noble sons, who took their places with the silent majority after lives spent with honor to their country and their name.

Hannah Crow was the youngest daughter of John and Elizabeth Goodwin Crow. John Crow was born in 1606, came to America in 1634, and died January 16, 1686, at Hartford. His wife was the only daughter of Elder William Goodwin, who came over in the ship "Lion," in 1632. He was one of the earliest settlers on the east side of the "Great River," at Hartford and the largest land holder in Hartford County. In 1656 he was chosen Surveyor of Highways. He went with his father-in-law to Hadley in 1659, and returned to Hartford about 1675. He and his wife were admitted to the South Church, Hartford, March 31, 1678. He had;

Esther, who married Giles Hamlin;

John, Merchant in West India Trade, died 1667, at sea;

Mary, who married Noah Coleman;

Nathaniel, who married Deborah ——;

Elizabeth;

Hannah, who married Thomas Dickinson, Senior.

Elizabeth married; first William Warner, of Hartford, second, Phineas Wilson a wealthy merchant from Dublin, who died May 22, 1692, and after his death, she continued his business and became the most extensive banker in the Colony, she was accustomed to loan money on mortgages, not only to citizens of Hartford, but in adjoining towns, and she managed her affairs with wisdom and judgment. Her estate was appraised at £7154.4.2.

Mehitable Meekins was the youngest daughter of Thomas and Mary Bunce Meekins. She was born at Hatfield, Mass., August, 1675. Her father was slain by the Indians in an attack on Hatfield, October 19th, of the same year. Thomas and Mary Meekins had;

Sarah, born 1666, married Pelitiah Jones;

Mary, born 1670, married James Lewis;

John, born 1672;

Thomas, born 1675, married Sarah Wells;

Mehitable, born 1675, married Thomas Dickinson, Junior, of Hartford.

The family home was Hatfield, and later Hartford. Mehitable's grandfather was Representative in 1644, and living at Roxbury. Her Grandmother, Sarah, died January 21, 1651, and the Church Record adds "She was a gracious woman and left a good savor behind her."

Dilligent search has been made to find the family name of Ann, wife Thomas Number Three, but without success, and it is probable it will never be known unless an accident reveals it. Born in 1715, she lived to a ripe old age. Her husband died at thirty-nine and left her with four children, the eldest (Thomas) but ten years old, and Sarah an infant. The record of her children, except Thomas is not found.

Mary Stevens came of an ancient and honorable family. Mrs. Antoinette Stevens of Canaan, Connecticut, (great grand-daughter of Andrew Stevens) furnishes the following:

"Nicholas Stevens, or Stephens, was a Brigadier General in Oliver Cromwell's army. From him descended Henry, and from Henry, Thomas Stevens, who married May 29, 1702, Mary, daughter of Stephen and Ruth Hall, of Plainfield, Connecticut, and had:

Thomas, Benjamin,
Phineas, Samuel,
Uriah, Zebulon, and
Andrew, who married Esther Safford. Thomas Stevens, Senior, bought a large tract of land in Canaan Township, on which several of his sons settled. Uriah Stevens was one of the grantees of the town of Canaan, in 1745, his name being in the original charter. Andrew Stevens was Representative in 1751 and 1761, and was first Town Clerk of Canaan. He was a prominent man in public affairs. I have been told by a grandson of his that he was a holder of 'Delaware Rights,' and that in 1770, while on his way home, he was struck by a falling tree and killed.

Esther Safford Stevens died March 13th, 1773, at Canaan.

John Stevens, son of Andrew and Esther Safford Stevens, at the age of sixteen, enlisted in the French war under General Noah Amherst. On account of his experience, he early took an active part in the war of the Revolution. He in company with Ethan Allen and others, conceived and executed the plan of taking Ticonderoga. Ramsey's History of the Revolution says, 'Messrs. Dean, Wooster, Parsons, Stevens and others from Connecticut, planned a scheme for obtaining possession of this important post.' He afterwards received a Captain's Commission, raised a large company, mostly in his own town, marched to the Cedars on the St. Lawrence River, where his company was placed under command of General Butterfield. They were attacked by a large force of British and Indians, to whom General Butterfield surrendered eight companies. Captains Stevens, Sullivan, Green and Bliss were held as hostages for nearly three years, when the officers and men were stripped almost naked and turned out to be sent home in the month of October. I have a portion of a diary kept by Benjamin Stevens, who was a cousin of John's and in his company. Their sufferings were incredible. At the commencement of the war John Stevens was a thrifty farmer; at its close he was penniless, with a wife and ten children (all daughters) to support.

Olive Stevens, Mary's sister, was wife of Samuel McClary, who was a member of Sheldon's Light Brigade which constituted Washington's Body Guard. He served during the entire war and was discharged at Newburg in 1783.

John, Nathaniel, Andrew Junior, Safford and Oliver Stevens, all served in the Revolutionary war."

DICKINSON ARMS.

Azure, a fesse ermine between two lions passant, or.

CREST.

A demi lion rampant perpale erminois et azure.

This blazonry of the arms of the ancient Yorkshire and Bradley Dickinsons may be found in Encyclopædia Heraldica, or any of the standard works on Heraldry. The will of Obadiah Dickinson, 1698, on file in the Probate Court office, at Hartford, is sealed with a coat of arms, which, although partially obliterated by the lapse of two hundred years, still shows ermine and lion passant on the shield.

The following letter is incorporated here because it contains sound advice for the eighth and ninth generation Dickinsons, and is wonderfully prophetic. It was written to a young man brought up in Guilford, and an intimate friend and correspondent of Daniel S. and Thomas Dickinson who was at the time in Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, and about settling there.

"MERIDEN, CONNECTICUT, July 24, 1830.

"DEAR ———

"Your kind favor of the 27th, ult., was duly received and perused with that satisfaction which I always enjoy in hearing from those I regard with tender solicitude. You seem to have formed a very high and no doubt correct opinion of the western country. I have no doubt from the fertility of the soil, and the vast and useful minerals that are found there, and its great extent, that that country must swell to such a size as to swallow up the old Thirteen States in all national political matters.

"The minerals of the West are much more useful than they would be if they were gold and silver. They are of such a kind as to require industry to render them valuable or useful, and will thus introduce to that country those habits which are worth more in a community than gold or silver.

"As population goes over the mountain, the wealth of the old states will be crawling along after it.

"Many great fortunes have been made there, and much wealth from Europe has already found its way there, and the country seems to hold out greater inducements than the eastern states for foreigners; this with the tide of emigration from the east, will fill and swell your western country to vast dimensions.

"I am not among those who suppose that the greatest benefit will result to this country from such an influx of foreigners. I had rather our country would swell with its own increase of population. Time has been when we wanted strength, and rejoiced to see foreigners flock to our country. Those days are past in my opinion, and if we can spread from our own population, and spread our own habits and customs, we should be a sound and wholesome people, and our country would furnish sufficient new land for a thousand years, if settlements were extended on correct principles to effect this. To induce settlers to cultivate the land already broken down the government must put a much greater price on their public land. As long as these lands are sold so cheap, the only object of many of the purchasers is to bring the land under cultivation, ruin it by a rapid succession of crops, and leave it and break down more. I have passed through tracts of country that looked more like the destruction of an army than inhabitants settling for life, much less providing a settlement for future generations, and as the settlement of our country now goes on, one or two hundred years will have swept the whole, and the tide will set from west to east.

"Should you think best to settle in business at the west, I shall do nothing to discourage you, and very likely it may be the best plan you can select. You have doubtless learned by this time, that the country does not make the man, but man gives character to the country; that energy and perseverance are necessary in every plan. I have one son only. I hope he will, if he lives to engage in business, begin with no more than he can comprehend and manage prudently. With such a course, means will generally increase as fast as the capacity does, and such a course I should advise to all my friends."

NOTES.

FAMILY NUMBER TWO.

John Dickinson and his family removed from Wethersfield to Hadley with his father, 1659. He is said to have married at about seventeen, and to have had six children before he was twenty-seven. He was a Sergeant, and was killed at the Falls (Turner's) fight, King Philip's War, May 19, 1676. His eldest daughter, Hannah, married September 23, 1668, Samuel Gillett, of Hatfield, who was killed in the same battle. She next married, May 5, 1677, Stephen Jennings; four months afterwards she was captured by the Indians and carried to Canada, getting back the next year. In 1708 her son Joseph was wounded, the husband of a daughter killed, and July 22, 1710, her second husband was killed by the Indians.

FAMILY NUMBER THREE.

Joseph Dickinson, was a soldier in King Philip's War, and was killed at Squakheag (Northfield) September 5, 1675.

FAMILY NUMBER FOUR.

Thomas Dickinson removed from Wethersfield to Hadley, April, 1659, and took part in all the exciting (and to this family terrible) events of the merciless

Indian wars. He returned with his family to Wethersfield in 1679, and died there, 1713.

The families of Nathaniel Dickinson, Senior, are placed in the table of families to show the fact that "The Old Settler" had some seventy grand children. Mr. Wharton Dickinson has a list of over three thousand descendants. The families of all the children of Thomas Dickinson Number One are also shown, but none are followed except those in lineal descent from him.

FAMILY NUMBER SIX.

Samuel Dickinson followed his father to Hadley, in 1661, and died at Hatfield. Three of his sons, Samuel, Nathaniel and Ebenezer, were in the fight at Deerfield in the winter of 1704, one of the most fearful of the many Indian atrocities, where sixty persons were killed and one hundred taken off captives through the snows to Canada.

Reverend Timothy Dickinson, a descendant of Samuel, who was Minister in Holliston, Massachusetts, from 1789 to 1811, writes in his Journal (furnished by the courtesy of Mr. Thomas A. Dickinson, of Worcester, Massachusetts,) on May 18th, 1807: "This day, thirty years ago, I first left my father's house with the recruits to join the army at Ticonderoga. I was then under sixteen years of age, but zealous in the cause of my country. Between fourteen and fifteen months I was in the American Revolutionary Army. I review the various scenes in which I have been interested with wonder and astonishment, and I hope, with humble gratitude."

FAMILY NUMBER SEVEN.

Obadiah Dickinson was a Sergeant in King Philip's War. His house was burned by the savages September 19, 1677, his wife wounded, and he and his daughter Sarah carried captives to Canada. Returning thence he lived a short time at Hatfield, but soon removed to his old home, Wethersfield. The destruction of his home, the shock and sufferings of his wife (which probably caused her death), himself and daughter captives, taken in connection with his will, drawn three days before his death, show a life full of trials.

FAMILY NUMBER EIGHT.

Nathaniel Dickinson's wife Hannah died February 23, 1679. The date is suggestive of the hardships that befell all the families at this time. His third wife was the widow of Samuel Wright who was killed by the Indians at Northfield.

FAMILY NUMBER NINE.

Nehemiah Dickinson was a soldier in King Philip's War, and was in the Falls (Turner's) fight, May 19, 1676.

FAMILY NUMBER TEN.

Hezekiah Dickinson was a short time at Stratford, Connecticut, but soon on the Great River, (Connecticut) inn holder and trader, later merchant at Hadley, and afterwards at Springfield, Massachusetts. He was the father of Jonathan, founder of Princeton, New Jersey, College, and of whom the records say, "he lived a devout and useful life, and died universally lamented; a man of rare sagacity, calm judgment and unshrinking firmness."

Another son, Moses, was the celebrated divine of Norwalk, Connecticut, on whose monument is this inscription, "Beneath this Monumental Stone lies interred the body of the Rev'd Moses Dickinson, late Pastor of the First Church of Christ, in Norwalk, who departed this life May 1st, 1778, in the eighty-third year of his age, and the fifty-first of his ministry in said church. A man full of good understanding, well informed by study, cheerful in temper, prudent in conduct, he came to his grave in full age like as a shock of corn cometh in his season."

FAMILY NUMBER ELEVEN.

But little record is left of Azariah Dickinson, youngest son of Nathaniel and Anna Gull Dickinson. He was a soldier in King Philip's War, and was killed in the battle near Hadley, August 25, 1675.

FAMILY NUMBER FOURTEEN.

The will of Thomas Dickinson, grandson of Nathaniel, mentions by name four children only—Thomas, Moses, Elizabeth and Esther—but the records show that he had eight or nine daughters. He says, "my son Thomas shall pay the daughters eight pounds, and my son Moses shall pay them eight pounds, to be equally divided amongst them all." The old church records at Hartford are largely missing, and little is found showing what became of them. Elizabeth, May 13, 1719, married John Ensign, and Susannah married, April 14, 1742, Samuel Wells. December 20, 1698, Thomas was elected "Viewer of Chimnies," at Hartford.

FAMILY NUMBER EIGHTEEN.

Of the family of Thomas' brother Moses, all that is known is from the records at Hartford, where his name appears often in land transfers between 1745 and 1765. At the time Thomas, his mother Ann, and the children, Daniel, Samuel and Sarah, removed to Norfolk, a number of pieces of the inherited Hartford land were sold to Moses. He married Elizabeth Pratt, and had a son William, who was killed by the accidental discharge of a gun, March 16, 1767. From the town records at Hartford it appears that on January 12, 1755, one Ozias Pratt, "In consideration of the love and good will that I have towards my cousin William Dickinson, son of Moses Dickinson, of Hartford, I give him, etc.," (a piece of land in the north meadow).

FAMILY NUMBER TWENTY.

The first real estate transfer of record at Norfolk, Connecticut, is a deed wherein a piece of land is sold to Thomas Dickinson for a consideration of £35.0.0., November 20, 1759. A later deed to him from Caleb Turner of a piece which cost £350.0.0., closes, "In witness whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and seal the 7th day of September, in the 7th year of the reign of our Sovereign Lord, George the Third, of Great Britain," etc.

Norfolk Town Records, December 14, 1759.

Voted that we will allow Mr. Thomas Dickinson £0.10.0. for going to Litchfield.

Norfolk Town Records, February, 1760.

Voted that we will allow Mr. Thomas Dickinson

£0.2.0. more, which maketh £0.12.0., with which he hath allowed and been voted before.

When Thomas Dickinson Number Four became of legal age his father had been dead about ten years. Being the eldest son the care of the family rested on him, and removal to Norfolk—then practically a wilderness—was decided upon, in the spirit of emigration, that has since overspread the continent.

Of the children of Thomas and Mary Stevens Dickinson, Lois and Thomas Andrew had removed to Poultney, Vermont, before 1800. Daniel Thomas and William Samuel settled, 1807, in Chenango County, New York; John, about 1805, in Livingston County; Charles Frederick and Nathaniel Oliver, 1815, in Ontario County, New York. The Poultney records were destroyed by fire in 1856, and nothing is now shown there of the descendants of Lois Dickinson Woodman.

FAMILY NUMBER TWENTY-FIVE.

The children of Thomas Andrew and Sarah Turner Dickinson, were probably all born at Poultney. The family removed to Livingston County, New York, and later, 1836, to Nottawa, Michigan, where the father and mother died. Thomas Andrew Dickinson, at the age of fourteen, was for a time in the Continental Army, in the Quarter Master's Department, and was a Sugar-House prisoner in New York City.

FAMILY NUMBER TWENTY-SIX.

Daniel Thomas Dickinson removed from Goshen, Connecticut, to Chenango County, New York, in 1807. He settled on fifty acres of land two miles northeast from the Village of Guilford; later he added one hundred and fifty acres more. Here he lived and died. "He raised a family of stalwarts, stalwart both intellectually and physically. He was a man of intelligence and probity, and great energy and decision of character. His wife, Mary Caulkins, possessed a good mind, a kind and benevolent disposition, and discharged in her sphere with fidelity all the duties of a life of practical usefulness. The first school organized in the neighborhood was taught in a room in their dwelling."

The following proceedings are recorded in the hand writing of John Ralph, their youngest son.

Agreeable to notice a meeting was held September 9, 1830, in pursuance of above action, at Guilford Center Academy.

Rev. E. Punderson, Chairman.
D. S. Dickinson, Secretary.

At this meeting, among others, Thomas Dickinson, Daniel S. Dickinson and John F. Whiting were elected Vestrymen, and John R. Dickinson, Clerk of the Vestry, and it was 'Resolved that the name or title to be known in law shall be The Rector, Church Wardens and Vestrymen of Christ's Church, in the Town of Guilford.'

LAYING OF THE CORNER STONE.

In the Town of Guilford, County of Chenango, and State of New York, in the Republic of the United States of America, on Wednesday, the Eleventh of June, 1834, at 11 o'clock A. M., this box was deposited in the corner of this edifice, according to the rites of the Protestant Episcopal Church, in the United States of America.

The society or congregation for whose use this house is erected, was organized September 9, 1830, and seventeen only signed the 'Joint Act of Association.' At the date of this paper there are forty-two communicants, and the following are the officers of the Church, viz.:

Rev. Francis Tremayne, Rector.

John F. Whiting,
Erastus P. Smith, } Wardens.

Thomas Dickinson,
William Frederick Dickinson,
Anson Hayden,
Charles Boult,
Orin G. Merchant,

The Bishop of the Diocese of New York is Benjamin Treadwell Onderdonk.
William L. Marcy is Governor.
John Tracy is Lieut. Governor.
Andrew Jackson, of Tennessee, is President and Martin Van Buren, of New York, is Vice-President of the United States."

FAMILY NUMBER TWENTY-SEVEN.

John Dickinson, with his wife, Tryphena Wilson, settled at Caledonia, N. Y., where he lived until after the death of Tryphena. Five children were born here. The record of families forty-six, forty-seven and forty-eight is not found. Later he removed to Chili, New York, where he married again. There was no issue from this second marriage.

FAMILY NUMBER THIRTY.

Ephraim Lacy and Mary Dickinson, his wife, lived for over fifty years on their farm (near Caledonia, New York,) which he cleared from a wilderness, and where he died. Mary died at Avon, N. Y.

FAMILY NUMBER THIRTY-FOUR.

"My mother was a woman of bright mentality and refined nature; strongly imbued with the Dickinson thoroughness and neatness. Though meeting bravely and faithfully the stern duties of pioneer life, the culture and refinements of modern living would have been far more congenial. Father and mother had few school advantages—though mother, in her girlhood, taught the 'deestrict skule'—but their active minds were ever in pursuit of knowledge, and the influence of their lives made for integrity of character. To the last of her eighty-seven years, mother maintained a lively interest in, and knowledge of, the political questions and current topics of the day. They were ardent patriots in the War of the Rebellion, sending 'Our Johnny' (John Jay, youngest son and child) to the front, where in the 8th New York Cavalry, he was active throughout the war, and at its close acting Assistant Adjutant General on the staff of General Custer.

"Mrs. Mary M. Fraser,
"Scottsville, N. Y."

FAMILY NUMBER THIRTY-EIGHT.

Erastus Dickinson, eldest brother of Daniel S. Dickinson, was a strong character. He enlisted in the War of 1812, and served at Sackett's Harbor. He held the office of Justice of the Peace at Guilford for a number of years. In 1844 he represented Chenango County in the State Assembly. He was a man of great physical endurance, as were his brothers, William Frederick and Thomas, "either of whom could chop an acre of heavy timber in four days;" and it is related of him that on one occasion he walked from New Haven, Connecticut, to Guilford several hours short of the time made by a horse and rider leaving New Haven at the same time he did.

FAMILY NUMBER THIRTY-NINE.

William Frederick Dickinson at one time held the office of Deputy Sheriff in Chenango County, and was a prominent citizen. His death, in his fifty-fifth year, resulted indirectly from a dreadful accident. When about forty years of age, in taking a flying leap over a stone wall, he fell upon a sharp scythe. His left hand was nearly severed across the palm. The wound did not heal successfully, and caused intense suffering, so that in the theory of those early-country-surgery days, amputation was necessary. Amputation of the arm was repeated on three different occasions, and borne—before the days of anæsthetics—with heroic fortitude, but did not bring the desired relief.

FAMILY NUMBER FORTY-ONE.

Daniel Stevens Dickinson, third son, and fourth child of Daniel Thomas and Mary Caulkins Dickinson.

FAMILY NUMBER FORTY-TWO.

"Thomas Dickinson, aged eighty-two, the last surviving brother of Hon. Daniel S. and John R. Dickinson, was buried at Guilford to-day. Mr. Dickinson was a life-long resident of Guilford, and an influential citizen. He had rare good sense and judgment, and great executive ability. For many years he was Justice of the Peace, and held various honorable and responsible positions. His advice was sought in important matters, and his opinions, wherever known, were regarded with much favor. An aged sister, Mrs. Pomona Johnson, lives in Afton, the last of an ancient family. Aside from holding the office of Justice almost uninterruptedly since 1835, deceased was Deputy Sheriff two terms."—Extract from a local paper of May 21, 1885.

Lines by Thomas Dickinson, whose two daughters, "Flora" and "Ellen," were then dead, and whose granddaughter (family 84) was named Flora Ellen:

"TO MY DEAR AND ONLY GRANDDAUGHTER."

"Innocent, kind-hearted, guileless child,
Of disposition sweet and mild:
I love you for yourself, and care,
And prize you for the names you bear
Of my dear ones who've gone to rest,
Deep mourned by friends who knew them best;
I'm lonely when you're gone from home,
And watch and listen till you come.
You are to me all three in one,
My Flora Ellen Dickinson."

FAMILY NUMBER FORTY-THREE.

Obituary notice from a Chicago paper January 1885.

John R. Dickinson died in Washington, D. C., after an illness of a week. The funeral services were held in that city, and the body brought to Chicago, and interred in Oakwoods Cemetery. In 1831 he went to Binghamton and studied law. In 1837 he was admitted to the bar, and for the next thirty years practiced in partnership with his elder brother, Daniel S. Dickinson, one of the most distinguished men of the day. John, the younger brother, was not less able, but was more unassuming, and quieter in his tastes. He was elected County Judge in 1851, and served his term of office with marked ability. During his residence in Binghamton he was also owner and editor of the leading newspaper of Broome County and southern New York—The Binghamton Democrat—still in existence.

He went to New York City from Binghamton and was for many years Deputy Naval Officer of that port. He then came to Chicago, and engaged in the banking business with his brother-in-law, Hon. James H. Woodworth, one of Chicago's early Mayors. In 1877, feeling the need of less active business pursuits, he accepted a responsible position in the Law Department of the Government Land Office, at Washington, for which the study and training of a lifetime rendered him peculiarly fit. He filled the position, which was congenial to his tastes as he grew advanced in years, with marked ability until his last sickness. His decisions in complicated land-title cases were regarded as final. Daniel S. Dickinson, the more distinguished brother, once said at a complimentary state banquet, in New York City, "My brother John, the modest, unassuming one of us, who stays at home and does the hard work, while I make the fuss and get the honors." The Binghamton Republican, in an obituary, says, "His death will be keenly felt in the city of his life work, where he made hosts of friends in every position he filled, by his ability, courteous manners, and sterling integrity. His life was that of a high-minded, pure-souled Christian gentleman, without shadow of reproach."

Obituary notice from a Riverside, California, paper, January, 1886.

Mrs. John R. Dickinson, of Washington, D. C., who had been very ill here for some time, passed away on Friday morning, January 22d. Mrs. Dickinson was the widow of a prominent Judge in Washington, and was a lady of culture and extended acquaintance in the East, where she will be sadly missed by her many friends.

FAMILY NUMBER FIFTY-NINE.

George Washington Dickinson, grandson of Thomas Andrew (Family Number Twenty-five), served three years and a half in the Civil War, 1861-1865, in the 11th Michigan Infantry, as private and Sergeant. His brother, Jay, gave his life to his country, enlisting September 2, 1862. He served in the 11th Michigan Infantry. He died in hospital at Louisville, Kentucky, July 7, 1864, aged twenty-four years, and is buried at Nottawa, Mich.

FAMILY NUMBER SIXTY-NINE.

Extract from local Fond du Lac, Wis., paper.

Charles Frederick Dickinson dropped dead on the street in Fond du Lac, on the morning of January 14, 1895. He will always be remembered by the employees of the Commonwealth and P. B. Haber printing offices as one of their cheeriest associates. The death of his son, Dr. Dickinson, (Family Number One Hundred and Nineteen) was a great blow to him, and may have had something to do with his sudden death.

FAMILY NUMBER SEVENTY-TWO.

Hiram Ralph Johnson was a soldier in the Civil War. He had an arm shot away in one of the later battles, and died in hospital at Washington, D. C., as a result of the shock and suffering.

FAMILY NUMBER SEVENTY-FOUR.

John Edward Johnson enlisted August 8, 1862, in Company A, 114th New York Infantry, and was discharged February 6, 1864. At Port Hudson, by a charge of grape shot from the enemy's lines, he was severely wounded in the head, and his rifle was shattered against his side, breaking three ribs. This shock caused a painful nervous condition from which he has never recovered. He is still living—1897—at Ripley, N. Y.

FAMILY NUMBER SEVENTY-SIX.

Mrs. Virginia Eliza Murray, eldest daughter of Hon. Daniel S. Dickinson, was married in Christ's Church, Binghamton, October 20, 1846. Just three months from her bridal day, the same clergyman, at the same altar, was performing the last solemn offices over her remains. Her father reached Binghamton only in time to witness her funeral.

FAMILY NUMBER ONE HUNDRED AND NINETEEN.

The many Fond du Lac friends of Dr. Charles Ervin Dickinson were saddened on Friday by the intelligence from Milwaukee, that their friend had passed from time to eternity while a guest at the home of J. C. Murphy. The character and popularity of the man was seen in the representative audience that thronged the large auditorium of St. Paul's Cathedral on December 9th, in attendance upon the solemn funeral services. Dr. Dickinson was one of the most esteemed and beloved citizens of Fond du Lac.—Extract from local paper, December, 1894.

IN printing copies of wills and other old documents, effort has been made to keep as nearly as possible to the originals, verbatim et literatim.

So far as known the only living representatives of the fifth generation at this time (1897) are Thomas Wooster Dickinson and his sister, Mrs. Eliza Pethonia Dickinson Gallup, at Coldwater, Mich.

Hadley and Hatfield, Massachusetts; Hartford and Wethersfield, Connecticut; Norfolk and Goshen, Connecticut, are treated synonymously.
